Area digs out from snowstorm

Granite City's Street Department loads trucks with salt Monday as a major snow storm arrives.

Streets crews keep roads open; schools close for day

By Bob Slatz
Staff writer

Break out the Ben-Gay.

Many residents who managed to get out of their driveways Tuesday will likely feel at least a tinge of soreness in their backs today.

But don't put those shovels away just yet.

The National Weather Service's extended forecast for the St. Louis metropolitan area was calling for more snow tomorrow, Thursday, and a good chance of rain or snow again Friday and Saturday.

Despite the nine inches of snow that hit Friday on the southern Illinois area by Tuesday morning—and drifts as deep as two-and-a-half feet in some places—streets in the area were relatively clear of snow by 7 a.m. Tuesday.

The National Weather Service was predicting another inch of accumulation Tuesday, along with bitter-cold temperatures and a wind-chill index hovering near zero.

Short-handed Street Department crews in Madison began work at 1:30 p.m. Monday—about the time the first flakes began to fall—and worked through the night, finishing up at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Granite City Mayor George "Clayton" "Jug" Harrison said his department used about 300 tons of salt, calcium chloride and cinders to melt the frozen streets.

Two shifts of workers had the streets "more or less clear" by 10:30 p.m. Monday, but a second batch of snow that fell at about 3 a.m. sent trucks back out on the road, Harrison said.

Granite City, Madison and Venice schools were all closed Tuesday.

Long lines formed Monday at grocery stores, the result of shoppers stocking up on milk, eggs, bread, rock salt and other staples. And there were lines at video stores Monday night.

Louisville-Saint Louis International Airport was reporting that, although crews had (See SNOW, Page 2A)

Funds freed for home demolition

Showdown is averted

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

The promised showdown Feb. 9 between Venice and Venice Township never occurred, and, as a result, both sides now say that they came out winners.

After charges and counter charges of playing politics with a $1,000 federal Development grant, Venice City officials voted to show up "en masse" at last week's Venice Township meeting.

Mayor Tyrone Echols and some of the aldermen arrived a half-hour early.

In what Township Supervisor Richard "Poppy" Paterson called a "gentlemanly, social gathering of get-togethers," officials, the Venice aldermen and Paterson ended the dispute before the township meeting began.

On Feb. 10, the day after the township meeting, Echols and Paterson for reconciliation and suggested that the city might want to have Venice Alderman Mike Terrell, who is running against Echols for mayor, talk to Paterson about the grant money.

Venice Township also agreed to approve a "blank resolution" to approve the demolition work as it is submitted by Community Development for bidding.

"It's all worked out very well, really," Paterson said. "We got our personal differences straightened out—I'm not sure they were really there, anyway—and the houses will get torn down.

"Those houses need to be torn down quickly. They're causing real problems."

The dispute between the city and township came to a head Jan. 12 when Alderman John Williams reported to the Venice City Council that he had attended a Venice Township meeting that day to find out the status of the development grant and the townships had agreed to pay for demolition of houses in Venice.

Paterson told him that Echols was "playing politics" with it and that Paterson had threatened to get all the money back to Madison County Community Development.

Williams said Paterson said he was "not surprised" by Paterson's for reconciliation and suggested that the city might want to have Venice Alderman Mike Terrell, who is running against Echols for mayor, talk to Paterson about the grant money.

Responding to Williams' report of Paterson's response, Echols asked how he could possibly be playing politics "if they've got the money? What do I have to play with?" (See FUNDS, Page 2A)

Rocks Road when she and Cole passed through this area sometime Wednesday morning.

The note was on an envelope containing a picture of Stacye Caulk and Shane Caulk, said Stacye Caulk. Help me please. Murder. It was followed by a description of the car and its license number, Crouch said.

Killed were Ruth Caulk, 41, and her son, Shane Caulk, 15, both of Irving, Ill., a rural Montgomery County town located on Highway 16 just northeast of Hillsboro.

Police believe Cole kidnapped Stacye Caulk early Wednesday after shooting Ruth and her son with a shotgun.

While Stacye Caulk's note in Pontoon Beach was discovered at the Pontoon Amoco service station at the intersection of Highway 111 and East Chain of

Dr. Mark Bolyard, left, and research assistant Jamie Hensley discuss the progress potato plants grown in a lab at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Potatoes key heart research

February is American Heart month. In 1990, more than 44,000 Illinois residents died of heart-related illnesses. Of that number, 1,143 such deaths were reported in Madison County, while 1,117 were reported in St. Clair County.

Dr. Mark Bolyard's lab at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is working on a huge piece of poster board on the door that bears his name.

What may not be so obvious is what he does there.

Shelf after shelf holds a variety of plants, each encapsulated in its own artificial environment.

Among the plant life, breakers, chemicals and machinery is a collection of minuscule plants that may hold the groundwork to major gains in heart disease research.

And what plants are the topic of such an important study? Potatoes. But they're not your everyday spuds.

The potatoes Bolyard uses in his research will be genetically engineered to contain a specific DNA to produce a common chemical found in the human body, fibrinogen. Fibrinogen is a protein that at its best works with other bodily components.

Strict DUI enforcement

By Bob Slatz
Staff writer

A total of 183 arrests for drunken driving in Madison County in December, 53 of them, or 29 percent, occurred in Granite City, records show.

Granite City Police Chief Don Knight attributes the high number of local arrests for driving under the influence of alcohol to stepped-up enforcement here and good, dedicated police work, shortly afterward.

He said he is uncertain exactly what time Cole and Caulk passed through the area, and that the internal investigation is currently being conducted into the matter.

Police logGranite City*Beating of wife alleged

James A. Rutter, 34, formerly of the 2100 block of Edison Avenue, was arrested at 8:45 p.m. Feb. 9 for domestic battery.

He is alleged to have hit his wife, with whom he is in the process of a divorce, on the head with his fist, grabbed her by the hair, knocked her to the ground and kicked her, according to a police report.

Rutter was lodged pending $107 bail.

Truck driver arrested

John W. Hill, 49, of East St. Louis was arrested at 8:36 a.m. Feb. 11 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer responding to an accident with injuries reported finding a 1986 International tractor trailer jackknifed in the left turn lane and median of southbound Highway 3 at West Pontoon Road.

Granite City Fire Department personnel extricated Hill from the truck and took him to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Hill was released from the hospital at 12:45 p.m. and lodged at the jail pending bail.

DUI, 2 other charges

Forest L. Burris, 23, of the 600 block of East Chain of Rocks Road, was arrested at 1:04 a.m. Feb. 11 for driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and improper lane usage.

An officer reported seeing a blue 1976 Ford LTD cross the center line on Madison Avenue.

Two open 40-ounce bottles of beer were found under the front passenger seat, according to a police report.

Burris, the driver, took three field sobriety tests and a breath analysis test and was charged.

Shots allegedly fired

Larry D. Brown, 34, of the 700 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested at 12:16 a.m. Feb. 11 for unlawful use of a weapon and possession of a weapon with no firearm owner identification card.

An officer responding to a report of shots fired in the 1100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was told by witnesses that two shots were fired from a gun, and that two persons then entered an apartment.

Brown told police he had fired two shots into the air, from a Smith and Wesson .32-caliber revolver, according to a police report.

Nabbed in motel fight

Mark A. Breedon, 31, of the 1300 block of Washington Avenue in Madison, was arrested at 5:09 p.m. Feb. 10 and charged with assault, resisting a peace officer and criminal damage to property.

James C. Stuart, 36, of the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard, was arrested at the same time for assault and criminal damage to property.

Breedon and Stuart allegedly assaulted a 22-year-old resident of the Granite City Lodge, 1200 West, at the motel. A window was broken during the skirmish, according to a police report.

Breedon allegedly threatened a police officer at the police station, the report states.

Breedon was lodged pending $291 bail. Stuart was held pending $181 bail.

Political sign stolen

A 4-by-4-foot electroluminescent sign, valued at $100, was stolen from a yard in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue sometime after midnight on Feb. 11, according to a police report.

Funds

Echols said the mention of Terrell indicated to him that Paterson might be playing politics himself.

A studio tape recording of the Jan. 12 conversation between Williams and Paterson, while basically confirming what Williams reported, also showed discussion of politics was only a fraction of the conversation.

The majority of the Jan. 12 conversation consisted of Williams and Paterson agreeing that Madison County Community Development needed to be approached concerning the status of grant funds and Williams wanting to know how he could help with that happen faster.

At the Jan. 8 office meeting, Paterson and Echols agreed to forget about their previous statements and start over again with the city and township agreeing to work together.

Even though the township did not receive a notice to proceed on the community development grant until the day after Jan. 12 meeting, "the things were add on nothing. There was nothing anyone could have done before (that notice) arrived."

"I don't care who gets credit for it, I just want the houses torn down," Echols said.

Note

"A clerk on duty (at the convenience store) said the note wasn't there at 9 a.m. (Wednesday)," Crouch said.

Cole was arrested near Kansas City on Thursday afternoon in Stacey Caulk's car, a 1986 Geo Storm. He was being held without bond this week on federal kidnapping charges filed Friday.

He was also charged with murder in Montgomery County last week. Cole's bond there is $5 million.

A shotgun was reportedly discovered in the car.

Stacey Caulk, who was with Cole at the time of his arrest, was apparently unharmed and was questioned by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

On Monday, Montgomery County authorities were to view FBI tapes of Stacey Caulk's statement to determine what time the note was left in Pontoon Beach, Crouch said.

"It is just a problem that fell through a crack. We pulled it out of the crack and now we're trying to determine what happened," Crouch said.

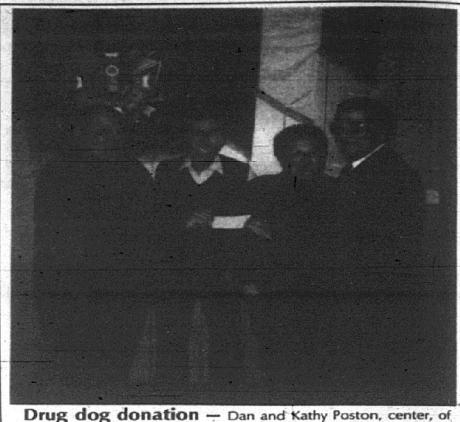

He noted that immediate response could have done nothing to help Ruth and Shane Caulk.

"The only life in jeopardy at that time was Stacey Caulk's," Crouch said.

Ruth Caulk's body was found in her home in Irving Wednesday afternoon. Shane Caulk's body was discovered outside of town Thursday after Stacey Caulk told police where they would find it.

Stacey Caulk had obtained a court order of protection from Cole, Nettie said.

A couple from Springfield had read of the case in a newspaper and, while driving on Interstate 70, saw the kidnap car. They alerted authorities and Cole was arrested by the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Knight said.

He said that all of his officers are in favor of strict enforcement of drunken driving laws, and that the federal grant obtained last year has helped his department concentrate on enforcement.

Granite City police issued 53 DUIs during the last month of January, Knight said. The grant by the Madison County Sheriff's Department during the same period of time, 15 by state troopers patrolling in the county, 10 each by Collingsville and Glen Carbon police, and four or less by each of the Venice, Tipton, Pontoon Beach, Maryville, Marine and Edwardsville police departments.

The average blood-alcohol level of Granite City offenders who come into the court system was .19, the same as the average countywide and nearly twice the legal limit of .10.

Three of the Granite City DUI cases — or nearly 50 percent — involved traffic accidents.

The average blood-alcohol level of Granite City offenders who come into the court system was .19, the same as the average countywide and nearly twice the legal limit of .10.

Knight said that an officer spends about two-and-a-half hours processing the average DUI arrest, but that Granite City officers are willing to go the extra mile when confronted with a drunk driving suspect.

"Even if it's 10 minutes until the shift change, they are willing to put in the extra time," Knight said.

Burpo suit back in St. Clair County

A civil lawsuit in which Bellville gynecologist Carl Burpo was accused of causing the death of a baby was returned to St. Clair County Thursday from federal court.

The case had been transferred to federal court in hopes of a dismissal because of Burpo's pending malpractice case. But the man was returned after St. Clair County was cited as the proper place for its hearing.

Michelle Sperry originally filed the case in St. Clair County, but Burpo had failed to diagnose her pregnancy which caused her baby girl's death on Jan. 23.

In addition, she alleged that he failed to timely perform cerclage on her, adequately monitor the conditions of both she and the baby and failed to follow applicable standards of obstetrics.

Cerclage is a procedure in which several stitches are placed in the woman's cervix when she begins to dilate too early in her pregnancy.

Sperry had been admitted to Memorial Hospital after she went into labor Jan. 22 last year. Burpo was her attending physician.

cleared most of the white stuff from runways, most flights were experiencing delays or cancellations Monday evening and Tuesday morning.

A related problem was heavy snow at airports east of here.

The AAA Auto Club was inundated with calls Tuesday morning. Ashby's Towing in Granite City had responded to about 15 calls from stranded motorists Tuesday morning, while the St. Louis District office of AAA received 10 calls per hour.

While Granite City police officers responded to 10 accidents Monday night and Tuesday morning, none of them resulted in serious injuries. Around the metropolitan area, many vehicles slid off slick roads and into ditches.

'Home Alone' cases are all too familiar to police here

It happens at least a couple of times a year, said Granite City Police Chief Don Knight.

"The neighbor or someone will call and say there's someone that won't quit crying. My officers get there and discover there's a five-year-old that's been left with the baby and that's all," Knight said.

In a typical case, Knight said, the parent went to the store or on some similar errand and left the children for a matter of hours. Knight said his officers pick up the children, turn the children, and then case over to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Knight said the officers taking the children either leave word for the parent or a neighbor or leave a note for the officers.

"It doesn't take long for the parent to get down to the police station asking 'Where's my kids?'" At that point, we start having a serious heart-to-heart talk with the parent," Knight said.

"This is not something we take lightly. There are too many serious things that can happen."

While some youngsters may be able to fend for themselves for a short while, cases can result in a variety of criminal charges against negligent parents, said DCFS spokesman Ed McManus.

"Parents are expected to use discretion in the home. The law is not specific in regard to ages of children left alone so it's really a matter of judgment."

McManus said the department investigated 13,000 cases statewide of children left at home alone last year, ranging from "latchkey kids" of working parents to outright child abandonment.

"We consider the circumstances of each situation and the age and maturity of children involved," he said. "In most cases age isn't as relevant as maturity."

Investigating officials also consider the availability of assistance and the child's ability to contact parents in emergencies.

"It's very important that children know how to get in touch with their parents or another responsible adult," McManus said.

Knight said there may be times when the DCFS investigation would indicate his officers may have overestimated the severity of the situation when a young child was left in charge.

"But my officers really don't have time to make an assessment of the maturity of a child or any other circumstances like that," Knight said. "We let DCFS decide that."

McManus said state officials can help parents find affordable counselors who have degrees in early childhood education, so parents they can't afford professional child care.

"We have an 800 number manned by professional counselors who have degrees in early childhood education, so parents they can't afford professional child care.

Schmitt said the society's Child Care Resources and Referrals Service maintains a database of more than 100 facilities in Madison and six other counties.

Seniors citizens plan St. Patrick's Day dance

Granite City Senior Citizens will celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a Corned Beef and cabbage Dance at the Township Building, 20th and Delmar Ave., on March 16.

All Granite City senior citizens are invited to attend at no cost. The Granite City Band will play and the Alley Cat band will play from 6 to 9 p.m.

Reservations may be made by calling the office of Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer at 677-6561.

The Granite City Township buses will also be in operation to transport seniors to and from the party if they have no other means of transportation.

Reservations will be taken for both the dinner and bus transportation until noon on March 15.

Women's award nominations open

Nominations now are open for the 33rd Women of Achievement awards, co-sponsored by the Suburban Journal and radio station KMOX-AM (1120).

Ten awards are given annually to women who have made a commitment to serve the communities in the St. Louis area and whose efforts have improved the quality of life for those around them.

A committee of community leaders and former Women of Achievement winners will choose the 1992 awardees.

Nominations for the 1992 Women of Achievement program are now open to the Women of Achievement Committee, c/o Suburban Journals, P.O. Box 41121, St. Louis, Mo. 63141.

The deadline for nominations is March 15.

The nomination should include the nominee's full name, address and telephone number along with information on her achievements, support letters and name, address and telephone number of the person making the nomination.

Subsidence monitoring gets grant

Luke Snell, professor of engineering and chairperson of the Construction Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has received a $65,000 grant from the State of Illinois Abandoned Mined Lands Reclamation Council to support a Subsidence Monitoring-Response Team.

Funding from the council has been derived through grants received from the U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement.

The team will be responsible for responding to requests from the council following subsidence events and monitoring surface points on a continuing basis. Activities will be carried out through June 30 of this year and include field investigations, data reduction and mapping.

More duties proposed for assessors

By Donita Tillman
Staff writer

A program to rejuvenate St. Clair County township assessors' jobs with more duties has been proposed by County Assessor Sam Flood and most assessors said they appreciate the effort.

The proposal, which expanded property assessment duties, was first proposed in Flood's office more than a year ago. They have since been criticized for continuing to accept pay for little or no work.

Flood's proposal would require assessors to check on demolition and fire reports, natural disaster damages, and alteration and building permits that don't already go before city government.

Flood said he had talked to several township supervisors and assessors in October about adding the work and taking some of the load off his staff. Most were in agreement and that stance is becoming more widespread, he said.

Support grew after failure of a bill, introduced by Rep. Monroe Flinn, D-Cahokia, that would have abolished the assessor's post in the state legislature.

"They're all certified and are being compensated so they should work," Flood said. "I think all the township boards are concerned with this. They want to retain their assessors, but they don't want to pay them."

Kurt Graul and Bob Delaney, assessors in Mascoutah and O'Fallon townships, respectively, said they had no problem with the additional duties and welcomed them.

Graul earns $1,250 a year plus $1,000 in expenses as assessor, while Delaney earns $4,200 a year.

"It's fine with me and I don't mind getting a little more to do," Graul said. "They're paying us. We should be doing something."

A retired postmaster, Graul said he regularly goes out in Mascoutah's rural areas and checks for new mobile homes and other real estate that may not have been reported.

Mascoutah Township Supervisor Charles Graul said he and other supervisors had agreed to help come up with duties for township assessors last year and were glad to know something had come through. The supervisor and assessor are cousins.

"Our assessors in the rural areas do a lot for them to help Mr. Flood in many ways. All he has to do is say what he needs," Charles Graul said.

Delaney said Flood's plan is an excellent idea. He said he has been helping with mobile home growth in O'Fallon Township, but the additional duties would not be a burden.

"I welcome it. I think it's good because it gives us more work and a lot of supervisors feel we should do more. No one wants to collect a salary and not do anything."

EPA targets lead in Metro East

By Peggy O'Farrell
Staff writer

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will be setting up a "multi-media focus" to study lead contamination and other environmental issues in East St. Louis and the Metro East.

Karen Lumino, a geologist for the federal agency, said the project is in the "very early planning stages."

The geographic initiative will concentrate services by "all the programs—air, water and waste," she said.

Federal, state and local agencies will cooperate in the effort, which will first concentrate on identifying environmental problems, she said.

"It's not just a lead problem in this area. That certainly is a big part of it," Lumino said. "We'll look at any environmental concern, but what those environmental concerns are, at this point, I don't know. They've got to run the full gamut."

The full scope of the project is not fully decided yet, she said.

The local project is based on a similar effort that took place in northwest Indiana, Lumino said.

Karen Turner, a spokeswoman for EPA, said the project will also focus on good communications between agencies and residents.

"The effort is not only going to concentrate on information and education, but on creating a two-way communication pathway so that the EPA gets information from citizens and other interested parties," she said.

Lumino and Turner were two of the participants involved in a meeting held Thursday on lead contamination and its effects on residents in East St. Louis and the rest of St. Clair County.

The meeting, sponsored by the Metro East Church-based Citizens Organization (MECCO), also included representatives from the Illinois EPA, the Illinois Department of Public Health, the St. Clair County Health Department, East Side Health District, the East St. Louis Housing Authority, the St. Clair County Health Planning Commission, the East St. Louis Community Fund and Project Hope.

Lead poisoning, caused primarily by decaying lead-based paint in older homes, affects 6,200 to 8,000 children in East St. Louis, said Robert Klutts, administrator of East Side Health District. Dr. Willard Scrivner, representing the health planning commission, said an estimated 10,000 children in the community are contaminated, affecting some 30,000 children under 6.

Participants in the discussion said a lack of money is hampering cleanup and rehabilitation efforts.

Tony Long, a senior toxicologist for the Illinois Department of Public Health, said cost for cleaning up a contaminated building can run from $7,000 to $45,000.

Durbin named to Clinton task force on health care

U.S. Rep. Richard J. Durbin, D-Springfield, has announced that he has been asked to join a working group of Hillary Clinton's Health Reform Task Force, where he will add the perspective of health-care problems facing rural Americans.

"Families living in rural America face different medical challenges," Durbin said. "There are fewer hospitals, fewer doctors, and limited medical support facilities. When we craft a national health reform package we must keep in mind the specific problems facing rural America."

"I represent hundreds of towns in my district. Only one city has the luxury of more than one hospital. The rest are lucky to have one hospital in the county."

Durbin noted that managed competition assumes there are enough health-care providers to compete.

"What does 'managed competition' mean to a county with five doctors and one hospital?"

Durbin added that although most health-care issues are unique to rural America, most of the families living there share problems with families living in the suburbs and larger cities.

"My town meetings have produced a series of questions and problems relating to health care: sky rocketing prescription drug costs, problems with insurance coverage, jobs without health-care benefits, and so on."

"There is no doubt that the present health-care system must be reformed," Durbin said. "The real question is whether America is ready politically to accept the change."

"Working with Mrs. Clinton's

task force, I hope we can come up with a health-care reform plan good for all Americans and responsive to the medical crisis facing every family, community and business in our nation."

Program to focus on scouting crops for disease

The Southern Region Crops Scout School is designed to teach the principles of field crop scouts in Southern Illinois.

Scouting procedures, field sampling technique, economic pest identification and damage assessment will be discussed. Participants will learn how to be able to diagnose most crop problems and determine economic thresholds.

The conference will be held at the Madison County Extension Office, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville. The program begins at 8:30 a.m. and concludes at 4 p.m. on Feb. 25.

The one-day session will cover the basics of identifying and scouting for common diseases, insect and weed pests in corn, soybean, wheat and alfalfa. A panel of professional agronomists will follow with a discussion of the fine points of crop troubleshooting.

Cost of the program is $15, which includes lunch and handout materials.

To register, contact the Madison Extension Unit office of the Madison-St. Clair Unit, 692-8400.

Belle manager was refused license because of criminal ties

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Gaming Board turned down a license to the former Alton Belle Casino manager because of alleged association with organized crime and casino skimming activities.

A notice of denial was sent to Anthony Cosentino July 24 by Gaming Board Administrator Morton Friedman.

A footnote in the preliminary notice of denial for the proposed sale of 50.1% shares in Argosy Gaming Co., which would own the Alton Belle, said the license was denied but gave no reason.

The prospectus, which spelled the name Cosentino, said he "resigned from his position as casino manager of the company after he was unable to obtain a permanent occupational license from the Illinois Gaming Board."

The Gaming Board notice, which spelled the former manager's name Cosentino, said the application for the license was denied by the Gaming Board July 24 because "you do not meet the requirements for licensing under the Illinois

Riverboat Gambling Act ... and gaming board rules."

Specifically, the Board denied your application because of your association with organized crime and casino skimming activities at Nevada casinos at which you were employed," the letter continues, giving no further details.

Friedman, Gaming Board spokeswoman Linda Mulcahey and Alton Belle spokesman John Reichert refused to provide additional details about why Cosentino or the allegations.

Mulcahey said Cosentino had appealed the denial but a hearing had not been scheduled. If the hearing ended up in a public hearing, both sides would be able to present evidence.

The law puts the burden on those denied a license to prove their suitability by "clear and convincing evidence," Mulcahey said.

As a key person, a casino manager is subject to an extensive background check by the Gaming Board investigations staff.

"He is no longer with our company. We, as a company, are in compliance with the Illinois Gaming Board," Reichert said.

Reichert said the company could not comment on the former manager because he was named in the prospectus, and Securities and Exchange Commission rules prohibit comments that could affect a proposed public stock offering.

The prospectus states that "Anthony Cosentino — casino manager," was paid $148,699 during 1992 but did not reveal when he was with the operation.

The July notice was sent by certified mail to an address in Belleville, but there is no telephone listing for him there. Granite City Alton Belle officials would not provide information on his whereabouts.

An Anthony Cosentino has a work permit for a casino in Nevada and a Las Vegas address. John Hammack, administrative coordinator for the Nevada Gaming Control Commission in Carson City, He could not be reached for comment.

Clerk offers income tax, breaker forms

State Income Tax and Circuit Breaker forms will be available this year in the office of St. Clair County Clerk Janice D. DeLoach. The clerk's office is making the forms (the IL-1340 Individual Income Tax return and the IL-1363 Circuit Breaker Tax Return claim for senior and disabled citizens) available as a public service to county residents.

Other state income tax forms and schedules can be obtained by calling the Illinois Department of Revenue, Box 19019, Springfield, Ill. 62794-9010, and specifying the form needed.

Taxpayers can use the department's toll-free line 1-800-732-8866 or call (217) 782-3366 to get answers to their state tax questions. A separate line is available for the hearing impaired who have teletype devices. That number is (217) 785-4270.

State revenue officials expect approximately 5 million Illinoisans to file state income tax returns this year. The deadline for filing will be midnight April 15.

Senior and disabled citizens have until Dec. 31, 1993, to submit their 1992 Circuit Breaker claim forms to the state in order to qualify for the Circuit Breaker grant or pharmaceutical assistance coverage. The grant tax relief is available to persons who are 65 or older who are 65 years old and to persons aged 65 or older, whose annual incomes are less than $14,000. The program also includes pharmaceutical assistance for Circuit Breaker claimants who use prescription heart, arthritis or diabetic medicines.

Did you know
new legislation can reduce your retirement payout 20%?

PaineWebber will show you an easy way to keep what's yours.

If you're leaving your company and receiving a payout from a pension fund or savings plan, you could be in for a terrible surprise. Because of a new tax law, if you don't direct your payout the right way, your employer is required to withhold 20%. So instead of getting $100,000, for example, you would only get $80,000. And you could lose the $20,000 permanently to taxes and penalties.

PaineWebber can show you how to easily avoid the withholding and keep 100% of your money intact. We explain it all in our free new retirement brochure, Don't part company with your retirement money: How to avoid the 20% withholding tax. Just ask for it. If there's any chance you'll be leaving your company, you need this information on hand. So you can leave with all your money and not just part of it.

Discipline cited as vital for good school environment

Educators are stuck between idealism and pragmatism when dealing with troublemakers in schools.

Kick them out and chances are they may end up in prison or unproductive members of society. Try to keep them in and disrupt the learning process for the majority of pupils who are good apples.

Edwardsville School District social worker Linda Allen said a key to dealing with the problem is defining discipline, which does not mean punishment.

"It should mean teach," Allen said, noting that parents and teachers should point out good behavior as well as bad behavior to boost self-esteem. "If they have no self-discipline, they have low self-esteem."

With a common goal, parents and school officials can formulate a consistent mode of acceptable behavior. Educators learn that the same rules apply at home and school, Allen said.

How educators deal with problem students and prevent others from following in their footsteps is causing a nationwide debate.

Madison County Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Briggs of Granite City, who led a forum in January on the topic, said leaders need to "turn the tide" of trends that are "both grim and forbidding."

Even if you live through a stroke, you might face paralysis, loss of speech, or altered behavior. Things that can make life difficult, to say the least. Strokes occur when the blood supply is cut to part of the brain. And if you currently have high blood pressure or any form of heart disease, your risk of stroke is higher than normal.

The American Heart Association urges you to control your blood pressure. By doing so, you'll reduce your chances of a stroke. And increase the likelihood of a long, happy life.

"I'd like to see schools deal with these kids and not kick them out into the street," said Darrell McGibney, associate director of the Madison County Probation Department in an interview after the forum.

"I'd like to see teacher training in how to deal with these kids, because they are a handful. They deal with them in school or we'll have to deal with them in the detention home or jail."

The regional superintendents are gathering opinions on education and crime for a report to the legislature.

Edwardsville Superintendent Bob Stuart said: "We need better cooperation with parents. What kind of kid is punished? We would like to see parents ask: 'Why did my kid do that?' instead of 'I want a hearing.'

"I'd feel better if a parent would stand up and say, 'What can I do to help?'"

Stuart said parents have hired lawyers for their fourth-grader's expulsion hearing instead of trying to talk to the schools.

The consequences of doing nothing are significant, he said.

Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich said 98 minors were referred to the State's Attorney's Office last year for charges or probation, compared with 83 the previous year.

"Juveniles (offenders) have a sense of frustration, no sense of direction and are not realistic about what lies ahead in society, what society offers and expects from them," Churchich said.

Churchich said schools cannot solve the problems by themselves, but teachers should "target children at early ages who have problems later. A program could build self-esteem and confidence."

Allen, the Edwardsville counselor, spends most of his time with grade school children and said behavior is a continual problem in schools. But he said he could not say things have gotten worse in 10 years of counseling.

Among area programs that educators and others said keep some children on the right track is Head Start for preschoolers, and reading and General Education Development equivalency certificate courses inside the Madison County Jail.

ments to stave off bleeding at the site of a wound.

At its worst, it clots too much, causing a thrombus, a blood clot that can lead to heart problems or cause strokes and many other illnesses, Bolyard said.

"Once a clot is made there are enzymes that dissolve it when it is not useful," Bolyard said. "What we're doing is trying to make changes in the fibrinogen to see how it affects that process."

Bolyard, an assistant professor of surgery at O'Fallon for two years. However, he has been working with fibrinogen since 1984 when he was a graduate student at the University of North Carolina. The Edwardsville resident is continuing his current research with funds from the university and with a $19,200 grant from the American Heart Association.

The grant pays for, among other things, the salary for Bolyard's research assistant, Jamie Hensley. The pair have been working on the project since last July.

Bolyard said the research would identify a way to quickly dissolve blood clots or to arrest their formation.

"(The research) may not result in a drug to affect this, but it will provide a lot of information that could lead to that," Bolyard said.

Bolyard said potatoes are a good subject because they are mostly starch, making the fibrinogen easier to harvest from them than other plants. Other researchers are getting limited results from similar research with mammalian tissue, Bolyard said, because of blood-borne diseases, a source for fibrinogen other than from potatoes.

Bolyard said he hopes to see results before his AHA grant runs out in mid-1994 so that he can apply for other funding to continue the research.

Shoe drive will benefit area's needy

By Laura Telander
Staff writer

Local residents are gearing up to collect shoes and boots for the second annual Good Soles for Needy Souls campaign.

"I think it is a good idea for a lot of reasons," said Sister Jack Motzel of the Catholic Community Services in Belleville. "There is a lot of unemployment right now, and people are more needy now than in the past."

The drive is sponsored by Famous Brand Shoes in cooperation with the Suburban Journals and Catholic Charities.

"It's a good time for people to give their shoes to someone who needs them," Motzel said. "There will be a lot of people we feel that will be benefitted."

Anyone who drops off a pair of used shoes or boots in good condition at the Famous Brand Shoe Store in Fairview Heights will receive a coupon worth $5 off the purchase of a new pair of shoes worth $30 or more.

The shoes that are collected will be distributed based upon need by Catholic Charities outreach centers in Illinois including the Catholic Urban Program in East St. Louis and the Catholic Social Services in Mt. Vernon. The group hopes to collect 50,000 pairs of shoes.

"There is a particular need for children's shoes," Motzel said. "But any kind of shoes will be accepted."

The staff at Belleville Catholic Social Services will also be distributing shoes to some area families, Motzel said.

Veterans' group seeks funds

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

The head of a veteran's assistance group is looking for more funds to help more veterans, but the door is closed to a tax hike on the county level.

Charles Snyder, superintendent of the St. Clair County Veteran's Assistance Commission, said the agency has not had to cut benefits to vets, but the coffers are pretty slim.

Although the annual budget runs about $150,000 a year, Snyder said the tax levy will create about $110,000 to $120,000 this year.

"We've been watching our expenditures and the county has been very good to us," he said. "Last year we ran out of money and we helped ourselves until our funds came in."

The commission provides basic necessities such as food, utility and rent payments to indigent veterans throughout the county, Snyder said.

County officials said the agency gets more funds each year because the amount of property taxes collected increases, bringing in more revenue. If the agency wants a tax hike, they should ask the voters, said County Board Chairman John Baricevic.

"They want more money, but for three years I have suggested they put a referendum on the ballot to raise the levy," he said. "I would be the first to sign and support it."

Snyder said the commission does not feel it should have to take the matter to the voters because state law requires it only if the agency plans to levy of $5 million.

"We don't want to be adversarial with the county, but a referendum is not required by state law. Why should we go to that. Also, we have no budget for advertising, so the only way to generate support for that is how we can we do it?" he added.

Despite the rift, he said he understands the county's position. If the county agreed to increase the commission's tax levy increase, other county agencies would seek the same thing, Snyder said.

"I don't blame the County Board. They just don't want to raise taxes for everyone," he said. "But on the other hand, there's an awful lot of veterans out there in dire need."

He said 101 clients were served with $33,000 in 1988; 116 with $45,000 in 1989; 181 with $55,000 in 1990; 210 with $73,000 in 1991 and 232 clients with $79,000 in 1992.

Warriors' lower-weight trio ready to take in Champaign

Hogan, Scheffer, Slay heading for state

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Chris Hogan, Pat Scheffer and T.J. Slay have given the Granite City High School wrestling team a head start in the lower weights during dual meets all season. This weekend, they will take that act to the Assembly Hall in Champaign.

The Warriors' wrestlers at 103, 112 and 125 worked their way to berths in the Class AA state tournament Saturday at the Granite City Sectional. For Slay, qualifying for state was nothing new. He did it during the past two years. But for Hogan and Slay, the experience was a first.

Hogan, in the 103-pound weight class, came into this season with no varsity experience. But the sophomore won three sectional matches over the weekend to raise his record to 37-3 and advance to state, culminating with a 3-0 title win over Belleville West's David Young.

Slay, at 125, made it to the finals and scored a 2-0 win over Collinsville's Billy Franke. Slay, a sophomore, has a team-best 39-1 record.

Scheffer, at 112, faltered in overtime in the sectional final against Carbondale's Jesse Thornton, 4-2. But Scheffer (38-4) had already qualified for state with two wins.

Strength in the lower weights has been a Granite City staple for years. Coach Mike Garland said he hopes to see Hogan, Scheffer and Slay keep it going in Champaign this weekend.

"You've got to be happy with those kids," Garland said.

"They've worked hard all year. Granite City has always been strong in the lower weights. It seems like we always send kids at 112."

Scheffer is this year's representative after qualifying for state at 103 the past two years. (See State, Page 28)

Granite City sophomore Chris Hogan wraps up David Young of Belleville West in Saturday's sectional title match. Hogan won 3-2.

Sectional winners to represent area at state

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

The Metro East area will be well-represented at Champaign's Sectional. Eight individuals as well as 16 local wrestlers qualified as individuals for the state tournament Saturday at the Granite City Class AA Sectional.

Somewhat surprisingly, the Collinsville Kahoks led the way with a school-record four qualifiers.

Mike Delisle (112), Steve Rogers (119), Billy Franke (119) and Jason Luther (135) will make history for the Kahoks if they make the mat Friday in Champaign.

Collinsville coach George Portz was ecstatic after Luther's 5-1 third-place win over Granite City's Jamie Kirby.

"This is the finest hour for the Collinsville wrestling program," Portz said. "Jason's one of our captains, and I was really happy for him. He went out at the end and wanted to make it out of the Granite City kid's hall."

"Rogers gave up his first back points all season (against Quincy). (See Sectional, Page 48)

Trojans survive letdown, claim win over Lancers

By Tim Carley
Correspondent

The Madison Trojans withstood a third-quarter letdown and made six clutch free throws down the stretch to beat the Belleville East Lancers 66-64 in a non-conference basketball game Saturday night.

The win improved the Trojans' record to 12-10. Belleville East fell to 8-12.

"It's our typical third-period letdown," said Madison coach Al Collins. "Over the year, we can't get rolling in the third quarter, then we have to get desperate to win the game."

Madison got off to a 12-4 in the first four minutes of the third quarter, as the Lancers erased an 11-point halftime deficit and were within a point at 39-38 with just over four minutes left in the game. Madison regained its defensive composure, but it couldn't contain East forward Enimie Harris.

Harris, who had 14 points in the quarter, scored the Lancers' final seven points of the quarter. But the Lancers could never get closer than two points before the period expired.

As hot as East was in the third quarter, it came out just as cold in the fourth. The Lancers were outscored 9-0 and the Trojans took control of the game once again at 56-45. The Lancers didn't get their first basket of the period until Steve Young hit a layup with 1:10 left.

East didn't give up and mounted a furious comeback effort in the last two minutes of the game. Young had a chance for a third-quarter 3-point shot, but after he missed the free throw, Harris grabbed the offensive cy's P.J. Moody in the title match). He had a little letdown. I think he thought he may have had the match won.

"And, hey, Deisile's only a sophomore and he's got 70 wins. We probably didn't have four state qualifiers in the 12 years before I got here."

Granite City will be sending three individuals to Champaign. Chris Hogan, the 103-pound champion; Pat Scheffer, the 112-pound runner-up; and T.J. Slay, who won at 140, was the Warrior qualifiers.

Granite City entered the weekend with six other qualifiers, all of whom were in sectional competition for the first time.

"I'm never satisfied with the kids, whether they won or lost," Granite City coach Mike Garland said. "The effort is always there. We would have liked to get more kids out. But once I saw a few drop, I figured there was a chance to get around three."

Calhoka had one champion in DeMarco Suggs at 189 pounds. Luther Gilmer (runner-up at 140) and Titus Taylor (third at 140) were the other qualifiers.

Belleville West will send two wrestlers to state after both took second place in their respective weight classes. Junior David Young (103) and senior Tracy Sanborn (145) will be making their first trips to state.

"I think the school would win the sectional," West coach John Wehmeyer said. "That was the third time he wrestled that kid (Granite City's Hogan) this year, but it was just one of those things. Tracy will run in real good shape, but he's done well. We've got another week to work."

Lincoln had two third-place finishers at Granite City in the 103 and 112 weight classes and junior Quinn Scott (130).

Edwardsville, which had 11 sectional qualifiers, was able to get only one of them through to the state tourney. Ronnie Hansen took third place at 103 pounds, but three other Tigers lost third-place matches. Tiger coach Babe Stahlhut said he wasn't surprised.

"Going in, there was a possibility of not getting any through because we have a real superstar," Stahlhut said. "I thought Ronnie had the best chance. It's just one of those cases where we are a good dual team."

Belleville East's lone qualifier came at 119 pounds, where sophomore Andy Johnson took third place. The Lancer program is down a bit this season, coach Norm Dahn said.

"Mike's going to state, at least we got one there," Dahn said.

WAKE UP!

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

When it comes to readin' and writin', it takes little 'rithmetic to figure that a lack of nutrition adds up to minimal learning.

Some local schools try to stem the tide by offering students breakfast. Breakfast burritos, corned beef hash and scrambled eggs are some of the fabulous fare that makes fans of students whose engines otherwise would operate on "empty" all morning.

The Rockwood School District is offering breakfast for the first year in its 17 elementary schools, as well as a junior and a senior high school. Numbers of those participating are still expanding.

Jordan Mavromatis, coordinator of food service, says, "We have had teachers and nurses tell us of the benefits of having children eat breakfast. More and more moms and dads are out in the work force and sometimes there just isn't time for breakfast. This is providing a service for them."

The big challenge for making the program successful is working with the bus program in the schools.

Cynthia Reese, who heads the Mehlville School District food service, says the need for breakfast prompted many programs.

"Our goal is to send children to the cafeteria for a sandwich," she says. "Some of them spend a long time on the bus in the morning. Serving them breakfast only takes about 10 minutes, even though they all arrive at one time."

Because children who are eligible for the free or reduced price meal automatically qualify for similar prices for breakfast, the money may not find instant appeal with this audience. Prices range from 50 cents to a little over $1 for those who pay full price. The state administers federal funds for breakfasts and lunches for qualifying children.

Children who come to school early for clubs, sports, classes and latch-key programs comprise a ready market.

Mary Shilly, director of the program in Granite City schools, explains that a qualifying meal includes two "bread" or "meat" items, with many items like eggs, pancakes and muffins included, as well as fruit, solid or juice, and milk. About one-third of the children in Crystal City Elementary eat breakfast at school.

Hilda Rafferty says the numbers eating breakfast at the Ritenour School District are increasing across the pay scale, which is the goal in all districts where the number of subsidized lunches varies widely.

Cafeterias regularly promote menus and entice children to eat. One of Ritenour's promotions was a Mickey and Minnie Mouse Day. At Kratz School one kindergartener wanted an autograph because she was sure one of the costumed workers was the real thing.

At the Ritenour schools serve breakfast to 800 students a day, compared to about 4,000 lunches. Rafferty wants to serve all the children who need to eat breakfast, but realizes many students do eat at home.

"Right now I am looking for a way to get breakfast on the bus in the high school. When I get up at 6:30 or so, I am hungry, but by the time I get here, I'm starved. It's the way the kids eat. Once they get to school, they'll eat," Rafferty says.

Ritenour has offered breakfast since 1978. Even when individual food carts renovated, a light breakfast of rolls, juice and milk is offered to give the children something to start the day — and keep them in the breakfast habit.

Sheila Magee, who directs food service for the Marriott Corp. in the Collinsville School District, says the cost of the program can prohibit its expansion. It is offered at three of Collinsville's elementary programs.

"You need to pay somebody to supervise breakfast, and we pay one person in each school for 45 minutes or one hour to prepare, give out, take tickets and clean up the breakfast," she says.

The children get a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, a bowl-pack of cereal, juice and milk for the meal. To make the job more efficient and reduce costs, Magee is investigating offering "breakfast in a bag" for easier preparation, delivery and more variety.

"The Marriott Corp. has a lot of wellness programs, but it is really difficult to do those things because the money is so tight," Magee says.

Breakfast is a time for socializing, as well as charging the body for a busy day of work and play. Eating breakfast at Beasley Elementary School in the Mehlville School District are, left to right, Amy McGuire, Allen Burns, Adam Scoggins, Judge Watkins and Michael Solomon. On this morning they chose from a menu that included pancakes, cereal, fresh fruit, orange juice and milk.

says.

She worries about the children who have not had breakfast at home or at school.

Some parents are parents are parents who need to be educated. Why not take advantage of the breakfast program? They just need to get the kids here a couple minutes earlier to be here in time to eat," she says.

Hal Pfeiffer, whose Francis R-6 schools have not offered breakfast except for the summer program, agrees that the bottom line is money.

"I really think there will come a time when all schools will have it. I would have loved to have started it even 10 years ago. In the summer program we did, the teachers even found time to cook," he says.

The Missouri State Legislature last year mandated that every school where at least 35 percent of its students qualify for free or reduced-price meals must establish a school breakfast program by July 1, 1993. That's a loophole for requiring a three-year wait.

Sue Hoelscher, director of food services for ARA School Nutrition Services in the Belleville School District, says school breakfast programs are being mandated in the state of Illinois. Belleville has provided breakfast for 10 years.

"We serve 700 to 800 breakfasts a day, which is 20 to 24 percent of the student body, so we are reaching those children. In Texas, where it is mandatory, participation is more like 25 to 30 percent," she says.

Michael Kanak, head of the program in the Parkway School District, is president of the School Food and Nutrition Directors Association of Missouri. In two years, the number of schools included in its breakfast program has mushroomed to 21 out of 27, and the number of breakfasts served daily has doubled in one year to about 1,000.

"The superintendent and the school board haven't mandated that every school must participate, so we have begun it in schools at the request of the principals. Often parents hear about it and lobby to get it in place. Depending on the school, we are only serving about 5 percent of the population, with older kids less likely to eat breakfast," he says.

Not only can peer pressure keep a child from eating breakfast at school, but sometimes it sees parents as a hindrance to the program's growth.

"I sometimes get a feeling that parents don't want their children to eat breakfast at home for breakfast. There's nothing to be ashamed of," he says. "We continue to get reports from schools' nurses that they are seeing less 'queasiness' by mid-morning among those who eat breakfast."

Schools in the City of St. Louis are the great-daddies of the area. Doris Layman, head of food service, says elementary schools began offering breakfast in 1973. Today 17,000 children eat breakfast in 122 schools.

"We have found where children who are hungry are kids of parents, first and have headaches. They don't participate well. It depends on what amount of money their family makes. Those are the results," Layman says.

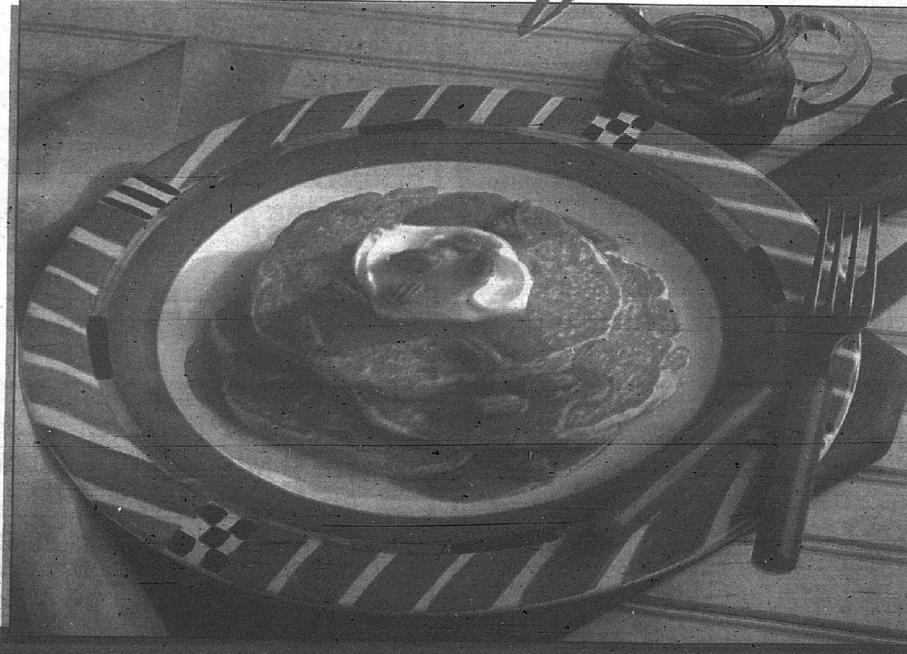

City schools alternate hot and cold meals every day. They make their own biscuits and cinnamon rolls and potato items like pancakes and hashbrowns, as well as croissant, biscuit and toasted cheese sandwiches. This year's new hit is cheese pizza.

Recently, Ritenour's Rafferty was letting some students taste test pizza as a possible new food item. When they gave her thumbs-up response, she changed the menu with following through by choosing it from the rotating menu.

She sums up the feelings of the directors of the school programs.

"It's been so much fun. That's what makes it wonderful. We want to make them healthy and strong," she says.

Perfect Pancakes

When it comes to February, the days of the week might hold a war this year. Sunday got sweet favor from valentines and Monday was dignified by presidents, while next week Wednesday is set aside for ashes for the beginning of the Christian observance of Lent and Tuesday goes down in history as the proponent of — of all things — pancakes.

When the observance of Lent meant strict fasting without use of meat products, Pancake Tuesday was the last day a household could enjoy rich products like butter and lard, sausage and eggs. Thus, pancakes were a welcome way for the cook to use up the ingredients on hand.

With today's easy pantry foods like pancake mixes and sweet toppings, pancakes are a morning favorite that can be made in a jiffy or become a symbolic observance of the weekend. Hot and hearty, they can be served with flavorings and toppings that are more like dessert than oatmeal.

If pancakes are a favorite, but there is only time for microwaving in the morning, make extras when life is easier. Cool them completely on wire cooling racks. Wrap in stacks of three in aluminum foil or freeze in freezer bags. To serve them, place a defrosted stack, uncovered, on a microwave-safe plate. Warm on high power 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 minutes until pancakes are hot. Serve immediately.

Carrot Cake Pancakes

2 1/4 cups complete buttermilk pancake mix

1 1/2 cups water

1 cup finely shredded carrot

1/2 cup raisins

1 tsp. cinnamon

1/4 tsp. nutmeg

1/4 tsp. cloves

Softened or whipped cream cheese, if desired

Cinnamon-Nut Syrup

Grease and preheat griddle or skillet. Griddle is ready when small drops of water sizzle and disappear almost immediately.

Combine all dry ingredients in a medium bowl. Stir until well blended. Pour batter by 1/4 cupful on prepared pan or griddle. Turn pancakes only once, when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look dry. Spread pancakes with softened cream cheese. Serve with Cinnamon-Nut Syrup.

Cinnamon-Nut Syrup: Combine 1 cup pancake syrup, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon in small saucepan. Heat through, stirring occasionally. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Makes 4 servings.

Super stew is winner

Marilyn V. Cooper, 12 Saddleback Court, O'Fallon, Mo., is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Gone-All-Day Stew. For this she wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Company.

This stew's aroma alone can set appetites humming. It can be made in a slow cooker over low heat as well, which will leave it moist.

Recipes in the Overnight Dish Recipe Contest will be accepted through Feb. 28 for consideration as winner of each of the five weeks in March. Suggestions for recipes in this contest include: salad, brunch casseroles and marinated foods that can be cooked the next day.

Send one entry per household to: Overnight Dish Recipe Contest, 1710 Dixie Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63121.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Please type your name. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations this dish specifies.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. It will be part of the basis for selecting winners, along with taste and eye appeal. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the source of the recipe.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

Gone-all-day stew

1 can (10 1/2 oz.) tomato soup
1 cup water or red wine
1/4 cup flour
2 lbs. beef chuck, fat trimmed, cut in 1 to 2 inch cubes
3 medium onions, cut in 1 inch diagonal slices
6 white boiling onions or yellow onions, quartered
4 medium potatoes, cut in 1 1/2 inch chunks
1/2 cup celery, cut in 1 inch chunks
12 whole large fresh mushrooms
2 cubes beef bouillon
1 1/2 tsp. Italian herb seasoning, or 1 tsp. leaf oregano, 1 tsp. thyme and 1 tsp. rosemary
1 bay leaf
grinds fresh pepper
preheat oven to 275°

Combine beef, carrots, onions, potatoes, celery, mushrooms, bouillon, seasoning, bay leaf and pepper in roasting pan. Mix together soup, water and flour until smooth. Pour soup mixture over top. Mix to combine. Bake, covered, in preheated oven for 5 hours.

When ready to serve, adjust seasoning if necessary. Serve plain or over noodles.

HEEL PAIN?

If you are suffering from pain located at the bottom of the heel, you may have plantar fasciitis.

Plantar fasciitis refers to inflammation of a ligament that attaches to the heel bone and fans out into the toes. The inflammation may be due to a variety of etiologies, almost all of which can be resolved through conservative treatments.

If you have been putting up with this discomfort, feel free to call the specialists of the Foot Health Centers.

The Foot Health Centers

Staffed with physicians and surgeons specializing in the medical and surgical treatment of disorders and deformities of the foot.

Reheat delicious home-cooked meals

No one should spend life slaving over a hot stove. On the other hand, no one needs to do it, because cooking and eating at home does not have to be drudgery.

For instance, cooking when there is time to cook makes sense in this time-crunched world. Sometimes though it is easier to cook meals ahead, freeze, then enjoy them as a home-cooked dinner on a busy day.

Lasagna is an easy dish to prepare with this intent. It can be dressed up or down according to taste—sauces and flavorful ingredients. It even becomes a Tex-Mex main dish with easy variations.

The makers of Ziploc freezer bags, who sell a jumbo-size bag to do with freezing food and cooking made easier, are offering a booklet with quick and easy freezer recipes, removable storage charts and tips for freezing foods.

For a free copy, write to: Freeze It! Home Freezing Made Easy, Ziploc Freezer Bags, Department 3900-JB, P.O. Box 78980, New Augusta, Ind. 46268.

South-of-the-border lasagna

1 pkg. (15 oz.) ricotta cheese

Recipe

Chocolate-marbled light cheesecake with cherry topping

8 chocolate wafers, crushed
2 cups light yogurt
1 pkg. (16 oz.) neufchatel (light cream) cheese, softened
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup skim milk
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. vanilla
3 egg whites or 1/2 cup yolk-free egg product
1 tbsp. chocolate extract
Cherry Topping

Preheat oven to 300°. Spray 9-inch springform pan with non-stick cooking spray.

Sprinkle chocolate wafer crumbs on bottom of prepared pan.

In medium bowl, using medium speed of electric mixer, beat Thick 'n' Creamy and cheese until smooth. Add sugar, skim milk, vanilla and egg whites. Beat on medium speed about 2 minutes or until smooth.

Pour filling over batter in small bowl. Beat in cocoa and chocolate extract until blended.

3 cups (12 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
Picante Tomato Sauce
2 pkgs. (9 oz. each) refrigerated lasagna noodles, or 1 lb.
1 can (15 oz.) refrigerated beans
1 can (15 oz.) pinto beans, rinsed, drained
1/4 (12 oz.) sliced hot or mild chilies, drained
1/4 cup finely chopped fresh cilantro

Preheat oven to 350°.

Mix ricotta and Monterey Jack cheese.

Spread 1 cup tomato sauce on bottom of 13-by-9-inch baking pan.

Top with one-fourth uncooked noodles. Spoon one-third cheese mixture over noodles. Spread with spatula. Spoon one-third refrigerated beans over cheese. Sprinkle with pinto beans and chilies. Repeat layers two times. Top with remaining cheese. Spread remaining sauce over top.

Bake, covered, in preheated oven 1 hour. Sprinkle with cilantro.

Cut in squares. Makes 12 servings.

Picante tomato sauce

2 cups chopped onion
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 tbsp. olive or vegetable oil
1 can (28 oz.) crushed tomatoes
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 cup medium-hot chunky salsa
1/4 cup tomato paste

1 to 2 tsp. chili powder
1 Salt and pepper

Sauté onion and garlic in oil in large sauceman until tender. Stir in tomatoes, tomato sauce, salsa, olive oil and chili powder. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, about 20 minutes until sauce is reduced to 4 1/2 cups. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Makes about 4 1/2 cups.

Low-fat lasagna

1 pkg. (15 oz.) fat-free or low-fat ricotta cheese
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
3 cups (12 oz.) shredded reduced-fat mozzarella cheese
Tomato Sauce with Italian Sausage
2 pkgs. (9 oz. each) refrigerated lasagna noodles, or 16 oz. uncooked lasagna noodles

Preheat oven to 350°.

Mix ricotta, parmesan and mozzarella cheeses.

Spread 1 cup tomato sauce on bottom of 13-by-9-inch baking pan. Top with one-fourth uncooked noodles. Spoon one-third cheese mixture over noodles. Spread lightly with spatula. Repeat layers two times. Top with remaining cheese. Spread remaining sauce over top.

Bake, covered, in preheated oven 1 hour. Sprinkle with cilantro.

Cut in squares. Makes 12 servings.

with remaining noodles. Spread remaining sauce over top.

Bake, covered, in preheated oven 1 hour. Cut into squares.

Makes 12 servings.

Tomato sauce with Italian sausage

2 cups chopped onion
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 tbsp. olive or vegetable oil
2 tbsps. Italian seasoning
2 cans (16 oz. each) whole tomatoes, undrained, coarsely chopped
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
1/2 cup water
1 to 2 tsp. red wine vinegar
1 to 2 tsp. lemon juice
1 to 2 tsp. sugar, if desired
12 oz. Italian sausage, coked, well drained
Salt and pepper

Sauté onion and garlic in oil in large sauceman until tender. Stir in seasoning. Cook 1 minute.

Add tomato, tomato paste, water, vinegar. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, about 20 minutes until sauce is reduced to 5 cups.

Stir in vinegar, lemon juice and sugar to taste. Stir in sage.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL.

When your physician recommends physical therapy treatments, Memorial's proven program, with a variety of convenient locations and flexible scheduling options, can get you back to work...to play...to living.

Memorial's Physical Therapy Services offers professional evaluations in a variety of settings by 16 physical therapists with over 170 years of combined expertise. Together with Memorial's 34 skilled physical therapy assistants, they provide state-of-the-art treatment to help you reach your full potential whether you're an inpatient at Memorial Hospital, a patient receiving Memorial's full range of rehab services at Memorial Convalescent Center, or an outpatient utilizing Memorial's convenient facilities. Outpatients can receive their treatments at Memorial Hospital or at close-to-home offices in west Belleville or Collinsville. A physical therapist is also available at Belleville Health and Sports Center to provide consultation and assist you in maximizing your workout routine. In addition, Memorial Home Care offers advanced physical therapy services in your own home if you're making the transition from a hospital or convalescent center to home.

When your physician recommends physical therapy, ask that it be performed by the skilled therapy professionals of Memorial's Physical Therapy Services -- this area's recognized leader in proven physical therapy services.

FAMILY

Jehovah's Witnesses to participate in assembly

On Feb. 20 and 21, the Granite City Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be participating in a Circuit Assembly at the St. Louis Assembly Hall.

The theme for this two-day event will be "Accepting and Benefiting from God's Word."

Steve Konjevich, assisted by Robert Wiers, will be responsible for oversight of all the spiritual activities.

The key portion of this two-day event will be the Sunday afternoon talk entitled "What Marks the Difference?"

The public address will start at 1:30 p.m. and be given by Konjevich.

Interested persons are invited free to any of the sessions.

Konjevich — along with his wife, Barbara — has served in full-time service as one of Jehovah's Witnesses for 25 years — 27 years in the traveling work.

At present, he serves in the capacity of district overseer in parts of Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky and Kansas.

Excluding District 9 in Illinois.

Other highlights of this spiritual banquet will include symposiums, a watchtower summary and two concluding talks on Sunday afternoon, including a special talk on "Accepting God's Word." A customary feature of the Assemblies of Jehovah's Witnesses is the Saturday morning baptism talk, designed especially for all candidates for baptism who have studied the Bible for a period of time and have met the Christian qualifications as set out in the Bible.

The assembly will accommodate 1,000 delegates from 11 congregations in Southern Illinois in attendance. The sessions on both days start at 9:55 a.m.

Women of Achievement

Nominations are now being accepted.

The Suburban Journals and KMOX Radio are proud to sponsor the 38th Women of Achievement Awards.

We invite your nominations for women who have made a commitment to serve the communities in the St. Louis area and whose efforts have improved the quality of life for those around them.

A committee of community leaders and former Women of Achievement will choose 10 honorees to be recognized at the Women of Achievement luncheon in May. Nominations should include the nominee's full name, address and phone number; information on her achievement; support letters from the organizations she serves, if possible; and your name, address and telephone number.

Nominations must be postmarked by Monday, March 1, 1993
Send your nomination to:

Beauty, talent pageants March 21 in Fairview Heights

STARS Beauty and Talent Pageants will be conducting its ninth annual preliminary competition, which will be at the Lamada Inn in Fairview Heights. Registration time is 11 a.m., and the event is open to the public.

The pageant is open to all Southern Illinois young people between the ages of 3 and 19, and includes competition in beauty, talent and photography, all of which are judged separately. This is the official preliminary to the Illinois state finals which will be held in Peoria in June.

Contestants between the ages of 3 and 19 will be divided into six age divisions. Pixie: 3-5, Little: 6-8, Junior: 9-11, Teen: 12-14, and Miss: 15-19. Boys between the ages of 3 and 9 may compete for the title of Little King, and boys through the age of 19 may compete in the talent portion of the competition. Winners in each division will receive crowns, banners, trophies and their entry fees paid into the state finals.

Contestants must be pre-registered by phone of mail by or before the March 13 deadline. To register or receive additional information, write or phone: Karen Steiner, STARS Pageants, 5322 Mist Flower Terrace, Loves Park, IL 61111, or call (815) 877-0304.

Weekend Athlete?

You played an innocent game of football on Sunday and it's time to roll out of bed on Monday morning. Well... what's the problem? Those aches, pains and strains could be telling you more than you just overdid it.

Memorial's skilled physical therapy staff provides a professional evaluation to let you know if it's just an ache that will go away in a few days or something that requires professional treatment.

Memorial is the largest and most innovative provider of physical therapy services in the metro area. Its staff of 16 registered physical therapists offer you over 170 years of combined experience. In addition, Memorial's 34 skilled physical therapy assistants help you follow your individualized treatment plan and reach your potential quickly and cost-effectively.

When you need a professional physical therapy evaluation and innovative treatment services, you can count on Memorial's team of professional physical therapists to get you back in the game. Call 233-7750, extension 5250.

Area's Needy
This Winter

Help the area's needy and homeless men, women and children this winter. Donate shoes in good condition at any St. Louis area Famous Brand Shoe Store between February 19-28, 1993, and we'll give you $5.00 towards your next purchase of shoes worth $30 or more.* Famous Brand Shoe Stores will be collecting shoes that are in good, wearable condition and donating them to the needy and homeless of the St. Louis area. Men's and women's shoes of all kinds are needed, however, children's shoes are a particular need this year. The shoes will be distributed to those in need by Catholic Community Services, a Catholic Charities agency serving people in eleven counties in the metropolitan area regardless of race, religion or national origin. Please help Famous Brand Shoe Stores make this winter a little more comfortable for the needy men, women and children of our area.

They are particularly bountiful along the shores of the Inside Passage.

The species is threatened by river pollution, pesticides and the loss of nesting sites. It is protected in the United States under the National Emblem Act (1940). In Alaska was long esteemed for eagles perched on fish traps and scared away salmon. (That was overcome by fitting the traps with devices to discourage perchng.)

Alaska hunters killed more than 100,000 eagles between 1917 and 1952. Now the bald eagle is protected in all states. The northern subspecies, which has declined throughout the area from Maine to the Pacific Northwest, is still widespread in Alaska and nearby regions of Canada. The southern bald eagle is an endangered species. It is numerous now only in Florida, where breeding sanctuaries are maintained.

Journal tourists can expect to see eagles, their nesting sites and a wide variety of other species when they travel with the Journal to Alaska in summer.

The Journals' Grand Tour includes nearly every necessary expense, a complete sightseeing program throughout the Inside Passage and Alaska's vast interior, delightful entertainment and all meals.

The only items not included are optional side trip to Barrow, Alaska, and gratuities to the tour director which are left to individual preferences.

People should consider the cost of meals, entertainment, sightseeing and shore excursions which are included in the Grand Tour but omitted from other Alaska tours.

When compared carefully with other tours the Journals' Grand Tour is by far the better bargain, as well as a much better tour program.

For information on the Journals Grand Alaska Tour contact Journalholder Travel at 894-5555 in St. Louis or toll free at 800-333-5910.

The bald eagle is the only eagle native solely to North America. Since 1782 the bald eagle has been the United States national bird.

It is a sea eagle that commonly is found along rivers and large lakes. The adult, about 40 inches long, is dark brown with a white head and tail. Its beak, eyes and feet are yellow. An immature bird is mostly brown but shows some white in its tail and wing feathers. It may not attain full adult plumage for seven years.

Bald eagles follow seabirds to locate fish. They rob the osprey of fish, catch fish themselves, and they eat carrion. They nest in trees, often on islands in rivers.
